

JCCE students study at Roper Mountain Science Center

Students in Jill Allen and Wendy Hanna's third grade classes attended programs at Roper Mountain Science Center in Greenville. The students interacted in a number of standards based science activities with teachers from the center. A brave Chaz Sapp is pictured holding one of the living creatures at the center.